Ledgerline Raises $9 Million Series A to Automate Small-Business Bookkeeping

Ledgerline, a San Francisco startup, announced a $9 million Series A led by Northgate Ventures. The company says its software reconciles bank and card transactions in real time for more than 2,000 small businesses.

The round will fund hiring in engineering and sales, according to a company press release. Ledgerline was co-founded in 2022 by Mateo Alvarez and Sara Lindgren.
